Is Not Making the Showing
And May Fall
Behind Indiana in Oil Production.
Some Interesting Figures That Show the State Comparisons.

The Two States, However, Show as Heavy a Production as the Entire Eastern Field for the Same Period.

The crude product of the Trenton Rock oil fields of Ohio and Indiana during the month of September is not small, when it is known that the two states are relied upon to furnish the illumination for this and other countries.
The two states during the month produced 2,068,273 barrels, or equally as much as the entire eastern fields for the same period. Of this amount, Ohio produced 1,459,235 barrels and Indiana 609,038 barrels.

The production in Ohio shows no improvement, while that of Indiana is rapidly growing. The total shipments of oil from the two states for the month were 2,020,439 barrels. The Ohio shipments were 1,118,779 barrels and the Indiana 901,660 barrels.

Ohio in September.

During September there was only one change made in the price of the crude product, and that was an advance of three cents per barrel at nearly the close of the month. The month closing with North Lima quoted at 94 cents and South Lima at 89 cents.

The following table shows the amount of the runs and shipments by the Buckeye Pipe Line company and other lines for each day during the month of September:

Date.	Shipments.	Runs.
September 2	42,492	36,882

Indiana in September.

The pipe line reports from the Indiana Pipe Line company and other pipe lines handling Indiana crude oil for the month of September shows that the shipments of crude oil is 61,348 barrels less than for August, while the runs from the wells show an increase of 49,411 barrels.

The total shipments for September by all the pipe lines were 901,660 barrels, and the runs from the wells 609, 038 barrels. The average daily shipments are 30,055 barrels, and the daily average runs, the largest for the past five years, were 20,301 barrels.

The runs from the Indiana oil field are gradually increasing, and if the large amount of work is kept up for another year the average should reach nearly that of the famous Ohio field.

During the first nine months of the present year the total shipments of oil from the storage tanks in the Indiana field has been 7,360,773 barrels.
The total runs from the wells of the state for the same period has been 4,614,639 barrels, valued at $3,753, 952.19.

The bulk of this money is distributed among the farmers and business men of the state, as very little of it goes out of the state.

The following are the daily runs and shipments of oil for the month of September by the Indiana Pipe Line company and others:

Severe Storm.

Shenandoah, Ia., Oct. 11.—A severe wind and rain storm visited this place.
A dozen business houses were more or less damaged and several small buildings were blown to pieces. The Burlington roundhouse was wrecked and the roof was blown from the electric light plant, leaving the city in total darkness. No one was seriously injured. The water transformed several streets into small rivers, and a large poultry packing house was blown to pieces and washed away in the country the roads were impassable and considerable stock was drowned.

Farmer Swindled.

Akron, O., Oct. 11.—Hueston Kepler, a prominent farmer and a former coroner of this county, was fleeced out of $5,000. The game was three-card monte, an old one, and Kepler was warned when he drew the money out of the bank that sharpers were in the vicinity, but he fell an easy victim. Officers from Barberton, where Kepler lives, and Akron are now searching for the sharpers. Two men worked the game.

It's easy enough to run into debt,
but it's hard to crawl out.

To Check Obstruction.
London, Oct. 11.—The difference of opinion existing among members of the British government as to the best means of dealing with Irish obstruction in the house of commons was illustrated by a remark which Sir Michael Hicks-Beach let fall during his speech in Oldham. The chancellor of the exchequer invited Liberals to cooperate with the government in bringing about a reform of parliamentary procedure and effectually checking obstruction, but he declared that obstruction would not be cured by any reduction of the representation of Ireland in parliament.

Tommy Ryan Disqualified.
Kansas City, Oct. 11.—George Green

Tommy Ryan in the sixth round of a bout at a local club. Ryan was the aggressor and had slightly the better referee gave the decision to Green, disqualifying Ryan for striking Green white on his knees.

and the voters of the state have an opportunity to keep him off next year by defeating him at the polls.

It now appears that the unwieldy surplus in the federal treasury is not altogether due to a miscalculation of the reduction in revenue expected from the repeal of internal taxes. There has been a concurrent under-estimate of the reduction of government expenditure. By the expedients of heavier deposits in national banks and the purchase of bonds Secretary Clegg has managed to prevent undue currency contraction. As soon as congress shall assemble anxiety about the accumulation of revenue will cease, but there will be great danger of imprudent expenditure. There is already evidence that the advocates of ship subsidies, ship canals, and land irrigation and other schemes involving heavy outlay are aching for a chance to get the first whack at the surplus.

More and more it appears as the days go by that the Marion oil field is to be the great center for production in Indiana. The product of the Hoosier field will probably go higher in the scale of prices also. The Marion field makes a better showing in every respect than is made by any territory in the country. Grant county is at the forefront of all the fields. The report for September, the official showing just sent out, the only reliable report, will draw further attention and investment to this section. There is no escape from our oil boom. In course of time this pool will be pierced by drills everywhere, and in all Grant county there will be heard the sound of the busy pumping apparatus. The industrious scratch of the pen as checks are made out for landowners will make pleasant sensations run up and down the spine of the farmer.—Marion Chronicle.

That the abduction of Miss Stone, the American missionary, and her detention for ransom were the acts of or were inspired by the Macedonian revolutionary committee is quite possible. Unfortunately the government is powerless against that elusive junta of blackmailers who masquerade as patriots and would-be liberators of their country from Turkish dominion. As the United States have been held answerable for unpunished mob violence against foreigners in New Orleans and elsewhere, however, so can the Turkish and Bulgarian governments be called to account by the authorities at Washington for their palpable neglect of duty to repress crime which is rampant on their borders when an American woman and citizen is made a victim thereof. This much is within the power of our government; and it is unlikely that the nation will meet with disappointment because of any lack of vigor on the part of the administration.

SOME TELLING POINTS.

The brief of Beacom and Babcock, in reply to the railway attorneys before the State Board of Appraisement, composed of certain state officials bristles with telling points, but none could be more incisive than that referring to the case of Gaylord vs. Hubbard in 36 O. S. 27, as indicating the power of the board, as to increasing valuations. The brief says:

The act under discussion in these two cases made substantially the same limitations upon the Cleveland Board of Equalization as section 2812 provides for this board, that is, the only express limitation was the one against reduction of the aggregate assessment. The board had in fact construed its powers to authorize it to increase the aggregate and nowhere in that case, either in the pleadings or the briefs of counsel, or the decision of courts, was that power ever questioned. The board was attacked on two grounds solely: First, that the law creating it was unconstitutional because a special law, and second, that the increases made were invalid because the property owners affected by the increase had not been notified and given an opportunity to be heard.

But the supreme court in passing upon this case did in 55 O. S. on page 33, expressly declare: "In the city of Cleveland the powers of the Annual Board of Equalization are practically unlimited, except in respect of diminishing existing aggregate values. No bounds whatever are fixed to its power to increase."

The board at Columbus decided, however, that the supreme court was wrong, and thus avoided the necessity of breaking up the inequalities of taxation for the benefit of wealthy corporations.

WENT

After the Sunday Violators

And Got Them

Grand Jury Caught the Saloonists

And Several of the Prominent Ones Will Have to See the Judge.

Indictments Returned Against Those Who Sold to Minors, Have Wine Rooms and Opened on Sunday.

The grand jury, after a ten days' session, reported at 11:30 this afternoon to Judge Cunningham, and while the type-written report is brief in the extreme, the consequences of the session carries with it the results of an investigation that strikes terror to the hearts of those who illegally conduct the saloon, or who operate the wine room and house of assignation.

The interest of these who have watched the preliminaries, and awaited the finale, was centered in the conclusions of the grand jury in the saloon investigation, and such satisfaction as those who have been instrumental in bringing the matter to a focus, can be extracted from the report which places in legal jeopardy several of the most prominent saloonists in the city. The number of counts against each hardly enters into a plea or trial, as the punishment rests entirely with the court; but since Judge Cunningham dealt kindly with the violators after their first offense, it is possible that the settlement on this occasion will demand a much heavier levy on individual accounts.

That there was an effort to again bring under the ban of the law, those who had violated local ordinances and state statutes has not been a secret for some days, and when the report was made this afternoon there was the question everywhere prevalent, "Who got it?" The interrogation hinged entirely on the indictments, if any, returned against the saloonists and there could be but one answer, "Some of them did get it." The investigation brings to light at least an alleged violation on the part of the following, who will have to answer to indictments, covering not one but several counts:

Joseph Miller, operating a wine room and selling liquor on Sunday.
Charles Ackerman, twelve counts for selling liquor on Sunday.
James M. Hoop, selling to minors and conducting a house of ill fame.
James Guncheon and John H. Baker, twelve counts for selling liquor on Sunday.

Eli Brentlinger, nine counts for the same.
Charles S. King and Frank Phinney, eleven counts for selling liquor on Sunday.

Grant Stevens, eight counts for selling liquor on Sunday, and also indicted for conducting a house of ill fame.

The above list includes all of the liquor dealers indicted, but aside from that there are several criminal cases that hold for trial such offenders as are now in jail and others who were able to give bond for their appearance.

Andrew Allison is indicted for assault and battery.
Gaston Devereaux and Laura Mort, for aiding and abetting prisoners to break jail.

Frank Hadding, assault and battery.

Mack Walters, assault and battery.

James A. Stewart, assault and battery.

James Davison, burglary and larceny.

S. A. Halfeld, receiving stolen goods and pocket picking.

Albert Linson, larceny.

Arch Miner, malicious destruction of property.

The jury was in session for ten days, and during that time investigated 92 cases, out of which 27 indictments were returned. The witnesses subpoenaed numbered 351, and of that number 340 were examined. Before the noon adjournment the jury visited the county jail and reported an excellent condition of every department, a conclusion that every one would have reached who is acquainted with the excellent management of Sheriff Bogart and his wife.

THE VISIT OF ITO.

Former Japanese Minister Comes to Study Our Institutions.

The Marquis Ito, former premier of Japan, has arrived in Victoria, B. C., says a dispatch from that city. He is traveling for the benefit of his health, which had been failing for some months. From Victoria he proceeds to Seattle by steamer and there will be accorded an official welcome. He will travel through the United States and will probably visit London before his return three or four months hence.

It is now rather more than four years since the marquis passed through Victoria on route to the jubilee celebration in London.

In personal appearance he has changed but little since then. Though aging, he still possesses a dignified and sprightly character, and his life. Accompanying him is a party of prominent Japanese, including the Hon. K. Tashima, advisor, a member of the department of education.

When asked by a reporter of the Victoria press the far east, the marquis stated that he did not consider any steels in the direction now being taken by the war were hostile to Japan. His country was not opposed to any of the present movements of Russia. In fact, he stated that the relationship between the two countries was now of the friendliest nature.

Just before leaving Japan the marquis said in a speech:

"The affairs of the far east have become subjects of the closest attention on the part of European and American powers during the last few years, and there are indications that the far east will be brought into closer touch with foreign countries in future."

"For these reasons I deem it most necessary that Japanese should make exhaustive inquiries into the affairs of Europe and America by means of personal inspection. I hope that my trip abroad will help me in furthering the welfare of our country. Looking into the present state of Japan, political circles seem to be enjoying temporary tranquility, as there is no important political question ahead requiring the immediate attention of the politicians. The policy of the government, it may be presumed, will not undergo any radical change to that pursued."

BUREAU OF STANDARDS.

Professor Rosa Tells of Its Work and Aims.

Professor E. B. Rosa, who was recently appointed physicist of the newly formed national bureau of standards at Washington, has returned to Westleyan university, says a dispatch from Middletown, Conn. He says that he will remain with that institution this year, conducting his class as he has before, but that he will make Washington his permanent headquarters after this year. He will make weekly trips to Washington during the present year, directing the organization of the bureau of standards.

Professor Rosa said that two new buildings were to be constructed at Washington for the work. They will be about midway between Chevy Chase and the White House, on Connecticut avenue, with an altitude of about 350 feet above the Potomac. The greatest care will be taken in planning and constructing these buildings to avoid disturbing influences. A complete set of dynamometers and electrical machinery and apparatus will constitute an important part of the bureau. All appointments to the bureau are to be made through the civil service commission on merit.

The new bureau supersedes the office of weights and measures, formerly located in the treasury department. It is really a national physical laboratory, as it contains the official tests for thermometers, barometers, pressure gauges and much other physical apparatus and determines and refines official standards. Congress has appropriated $250,000 for the new buildings.

THE IDLER.

PERSONAL.

When the Wapakone's fair opens next year, there will be at least three regular attendants from Lima who will at least be attended by a body guard or carry a compass. Joe Woerner, August Heitler and Tony Miller made a drive of it, but returning, got switched off the track and woke up at Uniohpolis. They took a hammer and a box of nails with them, but the drive was not what they counted on and all they had left on the return was the nails that hadn't been driven.

There will be a meeting this evening in the board of education rooms for the purpose of furthering arrangements for the session to be held in Lima by the state board of Charities and Corrections. A full attendance of the committees is especially desired.

The big day at Toledo, in which Cresscus is the great drawing card, called a large number of Lima people today who attended the Lucas county fair because of the opportunity to see the greatest horse in the country in harness.

Unearthed by Workmen in a County Ditch.

Workmen excavating a county ditch through the farm of James Dunlap in Hardin county, found a lot of human bones, a deer's antlers, the remnants of the animal's skeleton, a rusty gun barrel, a pair of shoe soles and some metal buttons.

The farm is on the Soeto marsh, which abounded in game a few years ago, and it is thought that a hunter killed a deer and was swallowed up by the marsh.

THE STAGE

"The Man From Mexico."

The Man From Mexico, which will be seen at the Fair Saturday night and night has been generally considered to be the funniest farce comedy produced within many years past. When Mr. DuSouchet wrote "My Friend From India" it was not thought that the author could sustain the pace that he had set when it came to furnishing a success to his first comedy. But he did more than sustain it. The Man From Mexico proved to be far funnier than his previous work, and it immediately caught the fancy of the fair loving public, with the result, that its engagements have been limited to the principal cities of the country. It will, however, be presented here in a thoroughly first class manner and with the aid of an excellent cast.

Of Music Can Not Speak Too Highly of the Smith & Nixon Piano.

Something that the people of Lima may be proud of, something wonderfully beautiful, something to appeal to the artistic temperaments of the most critical, something better than can be found anywhere else, was received at the ware rooms of Porter & Son this morning in the form of two elegant mahogany Smith & Nixon pianos. Their very important features of these instruments are the rich tone, the action and the "singing quality." In point of appearance and of these pianos can not be excelled. This grade of pianos is of the very best as are all the better class of instruments to be seen in the stock of Porter & Son, on south Main street. Truly this firm has well earned and is most deserving of the name "Old Reliable."

SCHOLARLY

under this exception as is prolonged and withstands the most earnest efforts for its removal. The innocent party must exhaust all efforts to procure the return of the one offering, 1 Cor. 7:11.

6. In the application of this principle, habitual cruelty is regarded by many of our theologians as a clear violation of the marriage contract and a form of malicious desertion.

7. The distinction between divorce and separation "quoad mensam ac thoram," is recognized by the canonical law, and by the civil law of many States, but has no Scriptural foundation, and is replete with abuses whereof jurists complain.

8. Besides the causes enumerated, divorce is understood as including also a judicial decree declaring that the marriage had never validly existed, as in cases where a manifest fraud has been perpetrated by one party upon the other. Such a divorce is in harmony with Matt. 5:32; 19:6, although it must be surrounded by the most rigid safeguards, if flagrant abuses are to be prevented.

9. Where the marriage covenant has been broken and the judicial decree has made public and formal declaration of the fact, the innocent party is freed from all obligations assumed, and stands in Divine Law as though such covenant had never been made. To the innocent party belongs, therefore, the right of remarriage.

10. But the decree of divorce, in freeing the innocent, does not, by Divine Law, give the right of remarriage to the party on account of whose breach of the contract the divorce has been given.

11. The Order of Marriage in the Church, i. e., by a Christian minister, is the public approval of the marriage as being legitimate, and the invoking of the divine blessing upon it as such.

12. No minister can officiate at the marriage of those as to whose right to marriage he is in doubt.

13. It is not, however, the duty of the pastor to enter into an examination of the evidence that has determined the decree of a court, and thus to assume to revise and amend its decisions; but where the divorce has been granted upon the grounds permitted in the Divine Law, the certificate of the divorce should ordinarily be taken as sufficient evidence.

14. In States where the divorce laws are lax, and other causes than those recognized in the Divine Law are admitted, the greatest caution must be observed lest divorces, made in violation of this law, be ecclesiastically approved, and persons be assured of the divine blessing, who, in God's law, are incapable of marriage. Adjourned with prayer by Rev. G. C. Haas, of New York city.

Thursday Evening Session.

Rev. Dr. J. E. Whittaker, of Lancaster, Pa., read the vespers. The meeting was in the interests of home missions. The first address was by Rev. Prof. C. E. Luidberg, D. D., dean of the faculty of the Theological Seminary of Rock Island, Ill., on Swedish mission work. He said in part:

"We believe in the Holy Catholic Church, the communion of saints. The Augustana synod is founded upon the Augsburg confession, and confesses the same faith as do the other synods of the General Council. She is engaged in developing the kingdom of God in gathering into congregation and caring for the spiritual interests of the Swedish population in this land. While her principal operations are carried on in the middle western states, Kansas and Nebraska, and in New England, she is sustaining missions in Idaho, Utah and Alaska. Her mission work is done largely by her seven conferences. The synod supports but seven missions, while the conferences are caring for many. The difficulties in doing the work are great. Chief among these are the extension of the fields, the translation of the Swedish into English. The children are rapidly anglicizing. To meet this contingency, the synod has decided to translate its literary and some of its best known hymns into the English language, not in spirit of opposition, but to impress upon the minds of the children that the faith of the church is the same in whatever language it is taught.

Then, too, the care of her three colleges, three academies and one theological seminary taxes the financial ability of the synod. Yet, she contributed during the past year $25,500 to the work of missions. The Lord is blessing his faithful servants. Our country is large, yet there is no need that we should separate, we should work side by side.

A solo was sung in a most effective manner by Miss Alice Fisher. The next address was in the German language by Rev. J. A. W. Kirsch, of Buffalo, New York.

He based his remarks on the incident of Hager and Ishmael. When the supply of food and water had been exhausted, the mother turned away from her famishing son; she could not bear to look upon his sufferings. He depicted the solicitude of a loving mother for her offspring, especially when in danger, and the agony she experienced. She could not afford the relief required. He applied this to the condition of the mission field. Many of flesh and blood were destitute of the means of grace and they were in danger of dying without the ministrations of the gospel. No one who loved his fellowman could witness the spiritual destitution without being moved to compassion and having an earnest desire to relieve it. Many thousands of our brethren, who in their early youth, were taught in God's word, were deprived of the preaching of the gospel, their children were growing up without church privileges and it behooved us to use our every effort to save them. God lays this duty upon us and we dare not neglect it. He spoke of the blessedness of this work and his earnest words deeply impressed his audience.

The inspiring missionary hymn, "Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken, Zion City of our God," was sung. Rev. G. W. Sandt, managing editor of the Lutheran, published at Philadelphia, Pa., was down on the program for the next address, but he was taken sick at Buffalo on his way to the General Council and was unable to be present. He, however, sent his paper, which was read by Rev. W. K. Erick. It was admirable in every particular, and from it, we make the following extract:

"The work of home mission is the same, whether it be christened English, German or Swedish. It's watchword is salvation; it's instrument is the gospel; its purpose is the evangelization of the unchristian masses; its task, as far as the General Council is concerned, is the planting of Lutheran churches in centers of influence, where the reformation faith may be entrenched for all time to come, and its special mission, so far as the English speaking portion of the Council is concerned, is the establishing of congregational centers, where the reformation faith may be preached in the language of the land, and in full harmony with its traditions.

"In the doing of this work, our supreme need is a mission force that, with Pauline fire and foresight and insight, shall know how to make full proof of its duty in centers of population, where mammon and pleasure reign supreme. Such men do not spring from the ground any more than they fall from heaven; they must be trained in the congregation, in the Christian school and the theological seminary. It is practical evangelists which they need. The church must provide the men. A church's right to exist is proved as much by its evangelistic propagating power as by the soundness of its faith. It must prove its faith by its works, before it can really claim possession of the faith, for that which we do not use, we lose."

"Pastors must speak as men who have the burden of the kingdom of God resting upon their souls, as well as that of the parish they are serving; they must speak as men who stand pledged, by the very purpose for which the church exists, to go out into the highways and hedges and compel men to come in. This brings us to a final thought, which needs special emphasis, and that is, we will seek in vain to create an abiding interest among our people in the home mission work until they have become interested in their own salvation. The only basis upon which we can build a deep seated love for the cause of missions is the evangelical consciousness. Essentially the same fire which drove the Apostle Paul over land and sea and made him say 'Woe is me if I preach not the gospel,' must burn in the heart of every church member if his interest in mission is to be properly rooted. The whole matter resolves itself into the simple question, 'what is the value of all that which Christ has done for me?' By that all true missionary zeal or fervor must be tried. The pendulum of public interest has swung in the direction of humanitarianism and secular education which are supposed to cover a multitude of religious omissions. Salvation does not mean to men just what it meant in Paul's time or even a generation ago. Men do not realize the supreme need in their own case, and hence do not recognize the need in the case of others. To that supreme realization the pulpit must again lead the people back.

The evening services were closed with a hymn and the benediction.

DELEGATES

From Lima Return from the Synod

And Report an Interesting Session in Which Home Missions Come in for a Share.

Rev. R. J. Thompson and elders, A. S. Creps, of Market street church, and Chas. Schrader, of Main street Presbyterian church, returned yesterday from the meeting of the Presbyterian synod of Ohio, held at the First Presbyterian church, Dayton. One of the noticeable features of the year's work is the prosperity of Presbyterian Home Missions in Ohio under what is known as the Ohio plan, by which the Presbyterian churches in need of aid are cared for by state funds instead of by national funds as heretofore. The mission churches of the Presbyterian body in Ohio received from this fund last year $26,000, all contributed by the Presbyterian churches of the state. This sum is three and one-half times what was ever received from the national fund. The entire contribution of the Presbyterian church in Ohio to Home Missions last year was over $81,000. Lima Presbytery was especially commended for attaining in one year self support in its Home Mission work, having been before one of the largest beneficiaries of the state fund.

The control of Wooster university was transferred entirely to the Presbyterian synod of Ohio, by the trustees of the institution. The university is shown by the report to be in a very flourishing condition. Rev. R. J. Thompson was elected a member of the executive committee of five having in charge the Home Mission work of the state, and Mr. F. W. Holmes was elected a trustee of Wooster university.

First Session.

Thursday, 2 p. m.

The 217 hymn was sung and President Ranseen opened the Council for the transacting of business in the order contained in the church book.

The roll of synods was called, and the names of the delegates were recorded. The delegates of the various synods comprising the Council were full with but few exceptions. The list will be published hereafter.

An application from the Pacific Synod recently organized on the Western slope of the Rocky mountains for membership in the Council was made and on motion of Dr. H. W. Roth, was referred to a committee to report action thereon.

President Ranseen presented his biennial report which was placed in the hands of a special committee for consideration and report. The election of officers being the next order, the chairman was instructed to appoint three sets of tellers. He announced the following: 1. On election of President and treasurer: Rev. Dr. Cooper Childblom and Rev. J. L. Frederick.

2. On Recording Secretary: Rev. I. O. Schlenker, A. Bergin, and Mr. C. T. A. Anderson.

3. On election of corresponding secretary: Rev. G. A. Benze, Mr. F. P. D. Miller and J. B. Duff, Esq.

A question was raised as to whether the selection of officers was limited to the delegates elected by the synod. A spirited and amiable discussion was precipitated which showed a different of opinion as to the interpretation of the constitution regarding this matter. Drs. Sees, Spaeth, Roth, Belfour, Smith, Kemzman, Schantz, Rev. Ramsey and Hon. C. R. Lantz, Boyd and Duff participated in the discussion. On motion of Dr. Spaeth it was Resolved that the election of President and corresponding secretaries be deferred till Friday morning and after the President has made a ruling in regard to the matter.

The roll of synods was called to ascertain whether any papers, of special business was referred by the synod to the action of the Council.

The executive committee presented a report covering

1. The unfinished business of the last session of the Council demanding attention at this convention.

2. A schedule fixing the time for hearing the reports of committees and the consideration of important business.

3. Specifying the hour for holding the sessions.

4. Naming official reporters, their report and considered serialism.

The memoranda of unfinished business was deferred for future consideration. The special orders for the several days were fixed as follows:

The hour for holding the sessions were fixed. Morning sessions 8:30 to 11:30, afternoon sessions 1:30 to 4:30, and vesper services 7:30.

Rev. D. M. Klmen, Dr. J. E. Whitteker, Rev. Ramsey and Dr. W. H. Hutton were designated as official reporters of the committee.

The tellers reported the election of Rev. C. M. Ranseen, of Chicago, Ill., D. D. as president and W. A. Chtake, Esq., of Philadelphia, as Treasurer. Dr. Ranseen acknowledged the compliment of a re-election in an eloquent speech. Dr. Staake had completed a quarter of a century in office, and so efficiently has he discharged his duties and with such satisfaction to the Council that in re-election has but a vote of confidence and an expression of gratitude for his self-sustaining labor.

Mr. Staake is a prominent Philadelphia lawyer with an immense practice, yet he esteems it a privilege to give service to church he loves so well.

The unfinished business of the left over from the last convention was then taken up. The theses on marriage in its relation to divorce were considered. The discussion which followed was exceedingly spirited and interesting one. Drs. Spaeth, Schenauke, Smith, Repast, Seist, Belfour, Mechtling and Prof. Foss participated.

THESES ON MARRIAGE

In Its Relation to Divorce to Be Considered at This Meeting.

The following which was reported by a committee at the last session of the Council is to be taken up for consideration at the session now being held here:

Theses on Marriage in Its Relations to Divorce.

1. Marriage, according to God's Law, is a convenient indissoluble for life.

2. Divorce, by divine authority, is legitimate only when the marriage covenant, and with it, the Divine Law, has been broken either by husband or wife. Divorce cannot annul or dissolve the contract, or separate the parties. In its legitimate use, its office is only to declare formally that one party to the contract has already broken it, in violation of Divine Law, and that the other party is, therefore, free from all the obligations assumed in entering the holy estate.

3. Violations of the Marriage Covenant completely disrupting it, are: (a) Adultery, Matt. 5:32; 19:5, 6. (b) Malicious desertion, 1 Cor. 7:15.

4. While the language of the passages in Matthew seems to restrict divorce to but one ground, "adultery," St. Paul in 1 Cor. 7:15, shows that desertion is the essential principle of adultery.

5. Only such "desertion" comes
